MESSAGE FROM THE DESK OF EDITOR

Dr. Syed Mohd Abbas Rizvi

Islamic Principles & Human Resource Management: At A Glance

This editorial is an effort to show the importance of Human Resource Management (HRM) in the light of Islamic teachings at a glance. Islam is a way of life, not just a religion. Its meaning an absolute submission to Allah in all realm of life. Muslims' intentions, actions and life style are designed by the precepts of Holy Quran and Holy Teachings of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH). Like other nations, Muslim Ummah is brought to light into the forces of globalization too. This paper highlights Islamic principles related to Human Resource Management (HRM) activities such as recruitment, appointment, self-worth and appraisal, training and education, and indemnity and wages, findings and conclusion etc.

Recruitment:

Islam expounds its recruitment system stand on justice and equality. In Islam, recruitment is processed with providing equal opportunity to all candidates and employers are duty bound to advertise for the post publicly to convey the message about job requirement. That's why information should be disseminated to assist and assess the candidate for the post.

Allah says:

Allah doth command you to render back your Trusts to those to whom they are due; And when ye judge between man and man, that ye judge with justice.¹

After going through the advertisement of vacancy, candidates should apply as per their capabilities. they should always provide correct and accurate information in their application about his academic as well as professional and social profile.

Allah says:

And cover not Truth with falsehood, nor conceal the Truth when ye know.²

Appointment:

Islam always recommends a biased free, fair selection system. Appointment or Selection should be taken place on the basis of capacity, capability, quality, knowledge, skills,

¹AL-Quran: 4:58

AL-Quran: 2:42

experience and self-oriented or somehow readiness to change according to the change in the environment of the organization.

Prophet Mohammad scolds with considering as violation of Allah's command those who appoint incompetent people.

Hazrat Ali bin Abitalib, the fourth caliph, said:

The selection based on favoritism or egoism is equivalent to injustice and treachery.

That's why Islam believes that the appointment must be done on the basis of merit, not relation or friendship. So, it should never be taken place because of caste, creed, family background, culture, religion, sect and nationality etc. It should be fair on the basis of individual assessment.

"For me, there is no such thing as a negative experience." -A. P. J. Abdul Kalam

Self Worth&Appraisal:

Islam emphasises that employees must be perfect in their assigned work and employers must be appreciated them to restore encourage and motivate others so that organization can get a best performance of their workers. In other words, efficiency is always appreciated anywhereand every one should know self-appreciation and self-worth. Allah says:
Nay, man will be evidenceagainst himselfa
.One who able to except change and want to adjust with the changing environment is also a good employee for the organization.

Training and Education:

Islam comes up with training to improve and make perfect management, officers and subordinates with knowledge, skills and attitude of people at all levels, because of Knowledge, Allah exalted and elevated status of human being as vicegerent of Almighty on his sacred land and also among human beings bestowed higher status to the knowledge person.

Allah says:

Are those equal,those who know and those who do not know? It is those who are endued with understandingthat receive admonition:

±Syed Agil (1997)

±AL-Quran: 75:14

±AL-Quran: 39:9

Islam does not confine knowledge to religion, it has broad vision to develop skills and increase knowledge how appropriate to accomplish ones job according to the terms of employment commitment.

Indemnity and Wages:

Here, we would like to elaborate our views in the words of Ali Al-Khatani:

Islam has laid special emphasis on compensation. According to Ali (2010), in early years of Islamic state, compensation was governed by:

1. Fulfilment of contract between employerand employee,
2. Differential in wages according to the level of competency and situation of employees,
3. Fixation of wages in advance and immediate payment after completion of work,
4. Increment in wages according to circumstances,
5. Sufficiency of wages to fulfil employees living needs, minimum wages system.

Islam disdains favoritism in setting compensation and wages, and exploitation of labor, particularly in labor abundant markets. Compensation should be fair to both employers and employees (Ali, 2005; Ahmad, 2007; Hashim, 2010), and compensate workers fairly for their work in such a way that they meet their basic needs and attain desirable living standards (Khan, Farooq, & Hussain, 2010).

"For me, there is no such thing as a negative experience." -A. P. J. Abdul Kalam

Findings and Conclusion:

International Journal of Recent Advances in Organizational Behaviour and Decision Sciences (IJRAOB), An

Online International Research Journal (ISSN: 2311-3197)

2014 Vol: 1 Issue 3 www.globalbizresearch.org An Application of Islamic Principles in Building a Robust Human Resource Management System (In Islamic Countries)-Ali Alkahtani.

In order to recognize the importance of work, Islam has honoured labourers and workers as status of high repute. It convinces human beings to make an engagement in economic activities and follow up personal and social welfare.

Islam expounds its recruitment system stand on justice and equality. Employers are duty bound to advertise for the post publicly to convey the message about job requirement with relevant detail to all, irrespective of caste and creed, religion and belief and race and colour etc.

Applicant should always provide correct and accurate information in their application about his academic as well as professional and social profile. Truthfulness and transparency should be made to exchange and share information from both sides for securing employee-employer interests.

Selection and appointment process should be fair and transparent and any kind of crime against the principles of human welfare should be considered as a breach of commandment of Almighty and holy Prophet and human world etc.

Through the performance appraisal, we can easily and mutually bring about fairness and trust between employees and employers.

Islam considers the training centres as the best platform to make better coordination, cooperation and support for each other and together.

Islam encourages an arrangement of indemnity and wages to foster an interest of contribution in workers hearts to overcome their task towards organizations and safeguards their decent life in particular and honourable status in human world in general.

This is a great contribution of Islam to establish the real concept of Human Resource Management in the mind of human beings as well as our society, so that everyone can easily understand that HRM is a property of entire human nation, not a monopoly of black sheep which Islam has declared at large.

Has very wisely said " We cannot stop natural disaster but we can arm ourselves with knowledge: so many lives wouldn't have to be lost if there was enough disaster preparedness." Natural disasters such as floods, Hurricanes, earthquake, volcanic eruptions, Tsunamis, and tornadoes can be tackled and handled quite safely if proper warning and safety measures are taken well in advance. Wherever there was a morning, and preparedness. There was less destruction and loss. With all the technological advancement, it's possible now to predict natural disaster well advance. All the natural disasters that stroke Indian and that took a very heavy toll of human life and property could have been averted, if Indian government in the past had acted wisely and proactively. For example if the government installed early warning system volcano, tsunami, prone areas, places such as, Bhuj earth quake January 26, 2001, Indian Ocean and tsunami in 2004, flash flood Kedarnath in 2013, many avalanches in the Himalayas, etc could have avoided. The bitter truth is we as are usually quite careless. Life for granted, we really to reset our priorities. We must be responsible for ensuring our safety. ISRO, DRDO, BHEL, BDL, many scientists, students in college's schools, and universities can be roped in inventing new devices and technologies to predict natural disasters well in advance accurately.
